

EXCEPTIONAL MOMENTS

IN TEACHING

Dr. Mark Bucsek is a PGY 1 Resident in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology. He is the November 2019 Recipient of the Exceptional Moments in Teaching recognition.

COMMENTS FROM DR. BUCSEK'S STUDENTS:

“Mark is an exceptional resident who treats both students and patients with compassion. He made sure to include students in procedures, even if it required spending extra time to explain how to help. Residents are extremely busy, but Mark made sure to teach throughout the day. He went above and beyond to ensure patients were comfortable and would always ask how he could help.”

“Mark was truly an exceptional teacher throughout my time working with him. He consistently took extra time to talk with me and explain things to me. He also encouraged and acknowledged when I did things well. His positive encouragement was very much appreciated and helped me to be more engaged in patient care.”

“Dr. Bucsek was a phenomenal teacher. He was always willing to include the medical students, and even though he was incredibly busy as an intern, he made time to go over presentations and patients.”

The College of Medicine recognizes exceptional teachers with the monthly “Exceptional Moments in Teaching” program. Honorees are selected via student assessments from courses and clerkships.

Recognized teachers — including medical faculty, residents, nurses and other educators — are those who challenge students and provide an exceptional learning experience.
